

SEEK SETTLEMENT OF AUTO STRIKE IN FURTHER PARLEYS

Efforts To Be Made To Reach
Final Settlement Rather Than A Truce

TERMS ARE RENEWED

Reports Are Current That Settlement Is Expected
Before Nightfall

DETROIT, Feb. 4.—(INS)—John L. Lewis, CIO chief, and William S. Knudsen, General Motors vice-president, sought a final settlement of the auto strikes in their peace parleys here today in time to prevent new rioting among milling crowds at Flint.

After two conferences yesterday, held after Gov. Frank Murphy said they were in accordance with the wish of the president, Lewis and Knudsen, it was learned on the highest authority, decided to seek a final settlement now rather than a truce.

Terms, which were being discussed as the conference was renewed today, called for recognition by GM of the United Auto Workers Union as the sole collective bargaining agency for plants where strikes are in progress, it was understood. In other plants, GM would bargain with the union on the basis of strength of union membership. The union on the other hand, it was reported, has agreed there will be no "check off" system, and the agreement will not cover GM subsidiaries such as Frigidaire Corporation, Delco Light and Lumbering interests.

Reports were current that the settlement would be reached before nightfall, barring any unexpected obstacle. The meetings between Lewis and Knudsen were being held in the offices of Judge George Murphy, a brother of Gov. Murphy. John Thomas Smith, general counsel of GM, and Homer Martin, president of the Auto Workers Union, also were attending the conferences.

Both Lewis and Knudsen were silent after the conferences yesterday were adjourned until 10 a. m. today. They said any announcement must come from the Governor. The Governor said:

"We have had four hours of judicial session. We will meet Thursday at 10 a. m."

He said both factions appeared in amiable moods.

Gov. Murphy had brought the warring sides together yesterday by a master stroke just in time to prevent possible violence.

Sit-down strikers holding Fisher Body Plants No. 1 and No. 2 at Flint had been under court injunction to vacate the plants by three p. m. yesterday. They announced, however, they would rather die than submit to eviction by armed force.

Sheriff Thomas Wolcott at Flint said he was set to carry out the court order even in face of the "death stands" of the strikers.

Standing by were 4000 grim-faced Michigan national guardsmen, while the Union planned to rush reinforcements to the sit-downers.

With the peace conference under way in Detroit, however, authorities, headed by Gov. Murphy, agreed not to attempt to oust the sit-downers at this time, and they were still holding the plants there today.

RED CROSS WARNS PUBLIC AGAINST FAKE SOLICITORS

Police Asked to Apprehend
Young Woman Who Was Collecting Here Yesterday

CASH OBTAINED BY HER

Police have been asked to apprehend a young woman whom it is alleged went about town yesterday collecting money for the Red Cross. According to Red Cross officials this woman was not authorized to make such collections. The woman is described as being young and with light hair, but the persons from whom she solicited did not know her. One business man gave her a donation and it is stated that he was requested to write his name in a book. The Red Cross again calls attention to a warning previously given that money should only be given to authorized collectors, who are local people.

It is also stated by the Bristol Branch executives that it would be appreciated if persons would not call and inquire why their names have not as yet appeared in the published list of contributors. "It is impossible to contact the treasurer each day and keep the list right up to the minute," it is stated. The published list is of necessity several days later than the actual receipts. The co-operation of the public is appreciated in this respect and all corrections necessary will willingly be made.

WOULD AMEND PERSONAL PROPERTY TAX LAW NOW

Senator Clarence J. Buckman
Presents Change to Benefit
Suburban Counties

OTHER LAW ACTIVITIES

By International News Service

HARRISBURG, Feb. 4.—Designed "to save millions of dollars for the suburban counties in the Philadelphia district," an amendment to the intangible personal property tax law was placed before the General Assembly this week by Sen. Clarence Buckman, R. of Bucks.

Senator Buckman's bill would change the existing measure, enacted in 1913, affecting tax collections on estate trusts so that the revenue would go to the resident locale of the person creating the trust. Under the law now in effect the tax goes to the city or county where trustees, agents or attorneys-in-fact are located.

Aimed primarily at large Philadelphia trust companies, the proposal would enable counties and cities in Bucks, Montgomery, Chester and Delaware counties to collect revenue on estate trusts created by persons there but incorporated in Philadelphia.

Explaining the purpose of the bill Senator Buckman told International News Service:

"Every year the suburban counties in the Philadelphia area lose hundreds of thousands of dollars because people living there created trusts with Philadelphia companies. Under the present law the city of Philadelphia is entitled to collect taxes on them because the trust company is located there.

"If my bill goes through, the money would go where it rightfully belongs—to the home community of the person creating the trust.

"I introduced this same measure several years ago but the Philadelphia legislators defeated it because of the money it would take from their city."

A moral—not political—issue will occasion the first legislative difference of recent sessions between Bucks and Montgomery County Senate solons, it was learned today.

The issue will be the bill providing legalization of horse racing and pari-mutuel betting in Pennsylvania, introduced last week in both houses of the 132nd General Assembly.

Polling sentiment of the highly controversial measure, International News Service learned that Sen. Theodore Lane Bean, Montgomery Republican, would favor the measure, while Sen. Clarence J. Buckman, his party colleague from Bucks County, would attempt to kill it.

Explaining his position on the proposal, Senator Bean said:

"Of course, I'm going to vote in favor of the horse racing bill. What's wrong with having it? We might as well have the people of the commonwealth betting in Pennsylvania as stepping across into some other state to spend their money.

"If they want to make wagers there are plenty of methods. It would be no worse than football games. We should have had the sport years ago."

Buckman, on the other hand, maintained the revenue afforded the state would be insignificant and that "Pennsylvania would be better off without it."

The measure had been a "sore spot" with the administration. As yet, Gov. George H. Earle has not yielded to the urgings of John B. Kelly, Secretary of Revenue and Democratic city chairman of Philadelphia, to support the bill. He has reserved his decision until he has had time to think it over more fully.

The Democratic-controlled General Assembly today had before it a bill designed to encourage the establishment of "new industries" in the commonwealth.

Introduced in the House late Tuesday afternoon by Rep. Thomas B. Stockham, Bucks County Republican, the bill is designed to extend special tax privileges to new "infant" industries striving for a foothold in the state.

Specifically, it sets forth:

"Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania . . . that corporate authorities of any county, borough, town, township, school district and poor district shall have the power to exonerate the proper tax collector from collection of taxes due

RESTORING A SHRINE

The famous Flag House, where Betsy Ross made the first American flag at the behest of General George Washington, is soon to be completely restored by A. Atwater Kent, of Philadelphia, to the condition of colonial days when it was the home of Betsy Ross.

The little brick building is but seventeen feet wide, and is located at 239 Arch St., Philadelphia. The ground floor was the upholstery shop of John and Betsy Ross. Here Betsy Ross carried on the upholstery business after the death of her husband, killed by an explosion of powder which, as a soldier of the revolutionary army, he had been detailed to guard on the wharves in Philadelphia. Betsy Ross often told the story of the first American flag to her daughters and granddaughters.

It was shortly before the signing of the Declaration of Independence that the first flag was made, she said, and historians have fixed the date in June, 1776. One day there came to her shop General Washington, with Colonel Ross, uncle of her late husband, and the wealthy Robert Morris, chairman of the secret committee on military supplies for the colonial government.

General Washington brought out a crudely drawn design for a flag, asking her if she could make it. She had never made a flag, and Mr. Morris said she could get a ship's colors from his counting house, as a model. She suggested the substitution of five pointed stars, showing how they could be as easily cut as the six points in the design, and that night the flag was finished.

The charm of the young widow is attested by the fact that she later married the other two rivals for her hand, Joseph Ashburn, a ship captain who died in prison at Plymouth, England; and John Claypoole, descended from an old Quaker family, whom she survived. She died January 30, 1836, and is buried in Philadelphia.

The restoration of the Betsy Ross House comes as the result of a newspaper article which disclosed rapid disintegration, with the falling plaster exposing the rough, hand-split laths, the roof leaking, and the floors sagging.

"When I read the newspaper article," said Mr. Kent, "I thought it was a shame that such a historic shrine should be permitted to fall into decay. I felt that the house in its present dilapidated state gave a very bad impression to the hundreds of thousands of visitors who come to visit it each year. I hope when the restoration has been completed citizens from every state may be able to see the house as it appeared in colonial days, as they now do Mr. Vernon, Monticello, Wakefield and other historic shrines."

BODDY MEETS BUDDY

QUINCY, Mass.—(INS)—Two war veterans who had not seen each other since they fought side by side at Chateau-Thierry met under unusual circumstances here. One of them, awaiting trial for a minor offence, called out from his cell for a glass of water. A passing patrolman, who heard the request, turned to recognize in the prisoner, a "buddy" of wartime days.

RECIPES WHICH EVERY HOUSEWIFE WILL APPRECIATE--MANY WAYS IN WHICH TO MAKE TEMPTING DISHES WHICH ADD CHARM TO TABLE OF ANY HOME

Requested Recipes

Stuffed Pork Shoulder

Brisk Winter is just the time for roast pork with a side order of apple sauce, or a dish of apples, which may be baked at the same time.

For this recipe use about a three pound boned shoulder of pork. Rub the meat thoroughly with a mixture of one teaspoon of salt, one-fourth teaspoon pepper and two tablespoons of flour.

Place the dredged meat fat side up in baking or roasting dish in a hot oven. After it is thoroughly seared, reduce temperature somewhat. When the meat has roasted one hour, remove from the oven, pour off the gravy and add the prepared dressing. Return to the oven and finish roasting.

Dressings: Mix together four cups of soft bread crumbs, one finely chopped onion, three-fourths cup finely-diced celery, one-half teaspoon sage, one teaspoon salt, one-fourth teaspoon pepper, three tablespoons shortening. Moisten with hot water if necessary. Add a few drops of Worcestershire sauce, if desired.

Novel Layer Cake

This novel layer cake, which is put together with cream filling, calls for graham crackers.

One-half cup shortening, one and one-half cups sugar, two eggs, one cup milk, thirty graham crackers, rolled fine; two and one-fourth teaspoons baking powder, sifted with the crackers; one-half cup coconut. Bake in layers in a moderate oven.

Meat Balls in Cabbage

One can tomato soup, one pound ground beef, one cup dry cereal (like cornflakes), two small onions, salt and pepper to taste, one-fourth cup milk, one unheated egg, one tablespoon shortening, one medium-sized head of cabbage.

Parboil the cabbage and let it cool. Mix together the ground beef, cereal, chopped onions, pepper, about one-eighth teaspoon salt, milk and egg, not separated. Blend thoroughly and roll into small balls, about the size of a golfball.

Separate leaves of the cabbage and enclose each meatball in two or three leaves. Brown these balls (meat and cabbage all in one) in butter, or any preferred shortening.

Leave them in the same cooking pan and cover with the tomato soup. Simmer slowly for one hour on the top burner. Baste frequently, and turn each meat ball several times.

New Vegetable Loaf

Ripe olives and kidney beans are keeping company in a new baked vegetable loaf, which is nourishing and novel. This so-called "New England Roast" has a chewy, meatlike flavor. Here is the formula:

Combine four and one-half cups chopped, cooked kidney beans, one-half cup sliced ripe olives, one cup bread crumbs, two tablespoons minced onion, one and one-half cups grated cheese, salt to taste, and any desired seasoning.

Moisten with one-half cup milk. Form into a loaf and bake in a moderate oven 375 degrees F. from 40 to 50 minutes.

Graham Pudding

This inexpensive pudding can be recommended for the children. One and one-half cups graham flour, one and one-fourth cups shortening, one egg, one-half cup sweet milk, one-half cup molasses, one-fourth teaspoon soda, pinch of salt, one teaspoon cinnamon, one cup raisins. (Raisins may be omitted.) Steam in cups one and one-half hours.

Sauce: Stir together two teaspoons flour, one-half cup sugar, one tablespoon butter, pinch of salt. Add one cup of boiling water and the juice of one-half lemon. Cook until thick in top of double boiler, stirring constantly.

Codfish Souffle

To one cup of boiled and flaked codfish add one cup mashed potatoes, one-half cup milk, one beaten egg, salt and pepper to taste, chopped parsley.

Place in a buttered baking dish and bake in the oven until browned. Other fish may be similarly served.

Where ramekins, or tempered fish shells are used, this dish will make an excellent luncheon course, cooked in the individual portions, with a sifting of cheese grated on the top just as the fish is put into the oven.

Eggs With Cheese

In a flat glass or earthen dish, melt one teaspoon butter and let it run over the bottom of the dish. Cover with thin slices of cheese and dust with white pepper and a little salt. Break in carefully as many eggs as the dish will hold and place in a hot oven until the whites are set. Serve at once.

Some New And Practical Recipes

New York and Boston cooks differ on the correct method for baking beans almost as radically as on the subject of clam chowder. The New York style omits molasses, or brown sugar. Both schools agree on the necessity for salt pork or fat bacon.

Pick over one pint of pea beans, cover with cold water and soak overnight. Drain, cover with fresh water, heat slowly. Some cooks like to add a tiny pinch of soda, pouring off this first water, and rinsing thoroughly the moment the beans reach the boiling point.

Cover with fresh warm water and simmer slowly until the skins are ready to burst. The usual test is to blow on a few beans held on the tip of a spoon.

Ad done small onion, chopped fine, two level teaspoons salt, one-half to three-fourths pound salt pork a sift of pepper, one to two tablespoons molasses, according to taste, one-half teaspoon mustard, if desired, and one cup boiling water. Add more water as needed, during cooking. If the meat seems extremely salty, decrease seasoning in proportion.

Cover bean pot or baking dish and bake four to six hours very slowly (250 degrees F.), uncovering during the last hour to crisp the meat. For a larger quantity, use one quart of beans.

Some cooks use sugar, as well as molasses. Maple syrup or brown sugar may be substituted. The strained juice from one can of tomatoes may be added, if liked.

Boston Brown Bread

Perhaps you feel sufficiently energetic to attempt a nourishing batch of steamed Boston Brown Bread for variety. This dependable recipe makes two loaves:

One cup rye meal, or white flour one cup corn meal, one cup coarse entire wheat flour, three-fourths teaspoon soda, one teaspoon salt, three-fourths cup molasses, two cups sour milk, or one and three-fourths cups sweet milk or water.

Mix and sift dry ingredients, add molasses and milk, stir until well mixed and fill well greased mold no more than two-thirds full.

Cover closely and place mold or trivet in kettle containing boiling water, allowing water to come to the halfway around mold. Cover closely and steam three and one-half hours, keeping water at the boiling point. Add more boiling water as needed.

In steamed pudding molds, steam one and one-half to two hours. Turn from water, remove cover and set in slow oven (300 degrees F.) 15 minutes to dry off. Remove from mold. Cut with string while hot, by drawing string around bread, crossing, and pulling ends.

If you prefer bread with raisins, add one cup seedless raisins; or make one plain loaf and add raisins to the second half before pouring into mold. One-fourth cup finely cut candied orange peel also gives a delicate flavor.

Boston Brown Bread may be steamed in a double boiler with satisfactory results. Grease top part and fill half full of batter. Set over the lower section, which should hold enough boiling water to cover its base one-half inch. Cover closely and steam three hours over low heat, keeping water at the boiling point and adding water as needed.

Brown Bread

This brown bread recipe is so simple that you won't believe how delicious the finished loaf is until you have tried it.

One egg, one generous teaspoon salt, one-half good cup molasses, one level teaspoon soda, one cup rich sour milk, one cup sifted white flour and one full cup graham flour.

Mix ingredients thoroughly, beating the salt with the egg, and whipping the soda into the sour milk. Pour into a greased loaf tin and bake slowly in a moderate oven for at least 40 minutes.

It is worthwhile to buy a small bag of graham flour, since it may be used in almost any muffin recipe, in fifty-fifty proportions with white flour.

Grapefruit Souffle

Gone are the days when grapefruit was restricted to salad plates, fruit cups or iced drinks.

Now it is making a bid for honors as the main course of a luncheon or informal supper, in a souffle recipe proposed by one of our Florida friends as novel, delicious and beneficial. Surprise your family with this:

One cup milk, one-half cup Florida grapefruit sections, cut in small pieces, three tablespoons orange juice, one-half cup sugar, one-half tablespoon vanilla, four tablespoons each flour and shortening, one tablespoon lemon juice, grated rind of one-half orange and three egg whites.

Make a white sauce of the flour, shortening and milk. Cool. Add the rest of the ingredients except the egg whites. Beat the whites very stiff and fold in last. Turn into a buttered baking dish and bake in a moderately slow oven (300 degrees F.) for about one hour.

Cranberry Relish

Cranberries are finding their way into unusual dishes this season. This appetizing recipe combines apple, cranberries and orange.

Boil one cup of white corn syrup and one cup of water together for about one minute. Add a tart apple cut in eighths and cook slowly for 15 minutes. Add one cup of washed cranberries and one thin-skinned orange cut in thin slices. Cook 10 minutes longer. Chill before serving.

Date Ice Box Cookies

Although thin cookies and fat cookies and any kind of cookies, find ready market, fruit recipes are particularly good during the Winter season. This recipe, calling both for nuts and dates, is a splendid one to keep on file, since it is simply made.

One cup shortening, one cup brown sugar, one fourth cup milk, one cup chopped nuts, four cups flour, or teaspoon nutmeg, one-half teaspoon cloves, one cup white sugar, two eggs, unbeaten, one teaspoon vanilla one cup chopped dates, one teaspoon cream of tartar and cinnamon and one teaspoon salt.

Cream shortening with white a brown sugar. Add eggs and beat well. Add milk, vanilla, nuts and dates. Sift flour with remaining dry ingredients. Mix to stiff dough and knead well. Form into long roll and chill overnight in the refrigerator.

Cut in thin slices and bake at 3 degrees F. for eight minutes.

Rolls of cookies should be wrapped, thoroughly with waxed paper for storage and covered with a towel. If proper precautions are taken, they will keep almost indefinitely in an ice box set at an even temperature.

Cinnamon Squares

Two cups sifted flour, two teaspoons baking powder, one teaspoon salt, one tablespoon cinnamon, one cup sugar, two eggs, one cup milk one-third cup melted shortening and one-half cup seedless raisins.

Put ingredients in above order into mixing bowl. Beat briskly less than one minute. Pour into greased pan, dot with butter, sugar and cinnamon and bake at 400 degrees F. for 25 minutes.

Cook The Flour For Good Gravy

"I can't make good gravy" is a common complaint.

Investigation invariably shows that comparatively "raw" flour has detracted from the flavor. In other words, the gravy was rushed through too quickly for quality.

If the oven is already turned on, put the portion of flour to be used for the gravy in a small tin and slide into the oven, while you are finishing other dishes. If you want rich brown gravy, you may even brown the flour slightly.

The oven cooking for flour reduces the time needed for blending the gravy. Remember that in some way the flour used for thickening should be cooked five to ten minutes.

Some cooks like to stir the browned flour directly into the bubbling hot fat, stirring steadily to prevent lumps. Others find it easier to stir the flour smooth in a little water, adding the mixture gradually to the diluted fat. A swift whipping with an egg beater will break up lumps, or the gravy may be strained the last minute.

In making gravy with roast chicken or turkey, stew the liver, heart and gizzard in enough water to cover, adding celery leaves and parsley. Chop and add to gravy when the fowl is lifted from the pan, first skimming top fat off the pan liquid. Thicken with at least one tablespoon of flour and season with salt and pepper.

For occasional novelty in seasoning, gravies and soups, or "stretching" the gravy, add a few drops of the genuine Japanese sauce which these excellent cooks find so indispensable.

HELPFUL HINTS FOR

THE HOMEMAKER

Hemstitching Hint

When sending basted articles to the hemstitchers, mark the pieces to be stitched with a decidedly contrasting color so that no places will be missed. Silk bastings will pull out much more easily than those done in cotton.

Junior Surprise

Surprises in serving ordinary food are appreciated even more by children than by grown-ups. Soup in a colored pottery bowl, or desserts served in a dainty sherbet glass are certain to be finished, right down to the last drop. For a special occasion, try serving vanilla ice cream in pastry shells, topped with a spoonful of slightly-bitter orange marmalade.

Hot Ripe Olives

Hot ripe olives, heated in their own liquor, make a novel and delicious relish. Surprise your guests by using them as a garnish on a meat dish.

Rub the saucepan with garlic and add a little salad oil and vinegar to the liquor before basting. Simmer the large ripe olives about three minutes.

Herbert Marshall says: "...a light smoke is a joy to the throat"

"Before I came over to this country an English cigarette appealed to me because it was firmly packed. In America I tried various popular brands looking for the same virtue. ## CORRECT WORKING HEIGHT IS GREAT NEED IN KITCHEN

By Rhondana A. Armstrong
Home Economics Representative
Constant stooping over a too low sink, range, or work table will tend to make any homemaker stoop-shouldered and look older than her years.

Spending several hours each day over these low working surfaces may have a direct effect upon one's health. Poor posture may be a cause of fatigue poisons.

Comfortable heights of these working surfaces should be discovered by trying them, for they will vary with the individual and the task performed.

For dish washing, try putting shallow pans or boxes under the dish pan until the most comfortable height is discovered. One should be able to work without straining back muscles. Measuring from the bottom of the dish pan to the floor will give the height for the bottom of the sink or the table top for washing dishes.

The table at which food is prepared may be tested in the same way by trying different heights under a mixing bowl and beater. Stand erect with shoulders relaxed and hold the beater so that the hands are below the elbow level.

Work at these heights for several days before altering old pieces or deciding upon new equipment. After finding the best heights for yourself it isn't hard to change a table surface. Often castors, swivel wheels, or glass cups will do the trick. Blocks can be attached to the bottom of the legs or a new top may be laid across upright pieces of board attached to the ends of the table if there is space enough said.

between to allow for cleaning. The old table top can be used as a shelf.

Bricks may be put under stove legs to raise a stove to the right height. Sinks are more difficult to adjust but even a plumber's bill is a good investment. If the sink can't be changed a wooden rack, which has been covered with spar varnish, can be placed in it to raise the dish pan.

The truly efficient worker will sit at many of her household tasks, for at times as much energy is used in standing as in sitting. While sitting, her arms should be in the same comfortable position as when standing at work. Adjustment can be made by altering the height of the stool or chair. Again one can experiment by placing boxes or books on a chair until the comfortable height is found.

Realize the interest of the man of the house in these experiments. He will be glad to make these simple alterations which mean so much to the health and appearance of the homemaker.

TAIL-LIGHT TWINKLE

BOSTON—(INS)—It will be "twinkle, twinkle, little tail-light," on Bay State highways henceforth if Representative Tyco M. Petersen of Springfield has his way. Petersen filed a bill under which pedestrians on traffic highways would be required to wear tail-lights as protection against automobile accidents.

NO MORE RED INK

MC GHEE, Ark.—(INS)—Red ink? They don't need it in this community. The city of McGhee closed out the year 1936 with a balance of $3,099.21 to its credit, Mrs. L. E. Durain, city recorder, said.

MUSSOLINI'S SONS HELP HITCH-HIKERS

ROME—(INS)—The newest way to meet important people is to ask for a "lift" on any large highway. So discovered Francesco Passetti, who, after "thumbing" cars on the Rome-Viterbo road for a few minutes finally found two kind young men who stopped and took him all the way to Rome.

Passetti did not notice with whom he was riding until he alighted to thank them for the ride.

To his great surprise he saw that he had been riding with Bruno and Vittorio Mussolini, sons of Il Duce.

DOUBLE TROUBLE

The New REDUCED Rates for home telephone service become effective with your next bill

Starting with bills dated in February, more than 90 per cent of our residence subscribers will receive service at the new low rates.

These new rates mean a saving of approximately $1,800,000 a year to our customers and bring telephone service within the reach of more thousands of families throughout the State.

Several factors make these reductions possible. Progress in the telephone art. Increased operating efficiency. Constant research. New developments in telephone plant. These—coupled with improved business conditions—are resulting in savings, which we are passing along to our subscribers in these reductions.

LONG DISTANCE RATES ALSO REDUCED!

In addition to the $1,800,000 annual saving on residence rates mentioned above, telephone users in Pennsylvania will save another $1,000,000 or more a year on the most recent long distance rate reduction, which became effective January 15. This reduction—the EIGHTH in a little more than ten years—makes many interstate calls now lower in cost than ever before!

These reductions are in accord with the fundamental policy of the Bell System—"to furnish the best possible telephone service at the lowest cost consistent with financial safety."

Pages of History Reveal Strange Facts About Food

It is interesting to check historic records and note the many strange customs associated with food in the past and present.

Because bread is an almost universal food, we find more legends and ceremonies centered around the use of bread than any other item of food. In early England, the freshness of the bread received depended entirely on caste.

The Royal Family had fresh bread and the nobility received their supply the next day. The gentry had three-day-old bread, and the peasants had to eat it four days old.

The expression "below the salt" is a reminder of the Merrie England days when a salt cellar on the long tables marked the dividing line between guests of high and low degree. Commoners were always seated below the salt.

Many customs are still in vogue in the countries of the Eastern hemisphere where bread plays an important part.

The Russians still offer guests bread and salt. In Austria, they hand the guest a loaf and a knife to cut himself the first slice—a gesture of respect and hospitality.

In some sections of Austria a quaint marriage custom still persists. When a couple married, the first crusts, or "heels" of the loaf were saved for good luck. They were placed in a jar and preserved in families for centuries.

Kitchen Wisdom

Stain spots can be removed from foulard by sponging material with diluted ammonia water.

Gold lace that has become tarnished may be cleaned by using powdered rock ammonia. Apply with soft brush. Liquid ammonia will remove stains made by machine oil.

To remove rust from table linen, use lemon juice, or cream of tartar. Should either fail, soak cloth overnight in sour milk. Next day rinse in two waters and lay in bright sun. Wet hourly with lemon juice. Soak in clear water.

Iodine stains can be removed by soaking fabric in milk and occasionally rubbing the spot.

Borax will remove stains made by shoes on light stockings.

To remove peach stains: Wet the stains and spread with powdered cream of tartar and place in sun. Then wash in ordinary way. Repeat, if necessary.

MARRIAGE LICENSES

Humbert Peckman, 28, Collingdale, Pa., and Mary Raudenbush, 30, Wynate Hall, Philadelphia.
Elmer F. Lowden, 33, Burlington, N. J., and Mary B. Dugan, 23, Bristol.
Ellison Silvers, 33, 72 Dunham street, and Matilda Irene Miller, 37, 335 Stuyvesant street, Trenton.

CCC STORM SHELTER

NEWPORT, Ore. — (INS) — Visitors from nearly every state in the Union, as well as from many foreign countries, have visited a storm shelter built of stones which sits eight hundred feet above sea level on Cape Perpetua along the Oregon coast.

The number of visitors to the storm shelter high above the sea was revealed in a registry which had been signed by several thousand persons. The structure was built by CCC workers.

FASHION PARADE

By Orry-Kelly
(Famous Hollywood Stylist Writing For International News Service)
HOLLYWOOD — (INS) — Winter marches on... and grows grander by the minute.
Gold and silver kid crepe into view many years ago when it first began increasing fine ladies' feet, but this winter it has travelled up the silhouette. The climatic use of silver kid was introduced by Rosalind Marquis in the sleeves of a dress we did for her to wear in "Marked Woman." The little Marquis cut short her hair with the "Gold Diggers of 1937" troupe to come back to Hollywood to make this picture. It will be worth her while, too, because never has she had the clothes break she gets in this picture. The dress that boasts silver kid sleeves is heavy black crepe and the medieval sleeves of puffed and smocked silver kid.

Rosalind also wears a deep brown chiffon dress in this picture which is draped with high front neckline but nude back. A narrow belt of gold kid-skin holds the draperies close to her waist and little gold kid mitts add a decorative touch to her hands. Of course, there isn't the slightest trace of jewelry on the costume, since the soft kid gives the appearance of molten gold.

Carol Hughes goes even a step further in using gold kid in lieu of jewelry. She clasps narrow bands of the gleaming leather on her wrists to serve as bracelets... and very pretty they are, too, against a deep wine dress. Envelope bags of this media for evenings have been in vogue for the past season or two, but pouchy bags of gold kid are newer. Carol carries one of these when she goes dancing in formal garb.

For daytime dress clothes there is nothing that surpasses in elegance heavy dark crepes generously sprinkled with tiny metal-colored discs. Helen Valkis, who wins her first important screen role in "The Prince and the Pauper," lifts as well as twinkles in a woody green dress that has a bonero of self-material dotted with burnished copper-colored kidskin discs almost as large as a dime.

FREEZING weather in California and flood conditions in the Mississippi basin have affected supplies and prices of most foods either directly or sympathetically due to increased demand on whatever is available. Most directly affected are navel oranges, lemons, avocados and iceberg lettuce with peas, celery and broccoli to a lesser extent.

Lamb, pork and poultry offer the best meat values, eggs are plentiful and very reasonable and butter is lower than last year at this season.

The three dinners given below are based on current market conditions.

ERNIE DUSEK THROWS McLEOD TWICE AT ARENA

TRENTON, N. J., Feb. 4.—Ernie Dusek, rowdiest member of the Dusek clan, won the feature bout of the weekly wrestling show at the Arena last night when he gained two falls over George McLeod, capable and resourceful Texan.

A punishing leg hold that Ernie seemed to delight in applying won the first fall for the Omaha roughneck. McLeod's ability to slip out from beneath Ernie's pet holds enraged Dusek, but he made little headway until he finally clamped on a torturous leg hold. McLeod held out as long as he could, but was forced to give up in agony after 25 minutes of bruising, give-and-take grappling.

Returning to the ring following the intermission, McLeod went after Dusek with a vengeance, and after 10 minutes had Ernie at his mercy. Referee Tom Parsonnet asked Ernie if he had enough punishment, and the Nebraskan nodded his head to signify his willingness as the crowd roared in glee.

Coming back following the second intermission, both wrestlers were out after the kill, with neither underestimating the other's abilities. It was an airplane spin that finally proved the undoing of McLeod. Ernie seized his foe about the ring until he grew dazed and then pounced on him to gain the fall.

John Kafan, the unpopular Canuck, wrestled to an interesting draw in the semi-windup, while Irish Jack Donovan retained his favor with the fans by subduing Al Sparks after 22 minutes. Returning to the arena ring after a long absence, Johnny Supple displayed his usual effectiveness when he applied an Indian choke-hold to pin Ted Key, former U. C. L. A. griddler.

Authorities Act

Constitutionality Upheld

Philadelphia, Feb. 4.—Reversing its own ruling of a year ago, the Pennsylvania Supreme Court, in a unanimous decision today upheld the constitutionality of the general state authorities act.

A year ago the favorable decision would have meant thousands of jobs for Pennsylvania's unemployed, on a self-liquidating state institution building program, which now totals 80 million dollars. Today's ruling, some authorities fear, has come too late, as the $4,880,000,000 public works fund—which was to have provided capital for the administration sponsored building program—has been exhausted.

Whether the court's new ruling, made possible by stipulations which brought the act into line with the Commonwealth's constitutionality, will be of benefit to Pennsylvania, hinges on the PWA's obtaining of additional federal funds.

Pope Plans Appeal

Vatican City, Feb. 4.—His general condition unchanged after a "fair night" with several hours of sleep, Pope Pius today was authoritatively reported to be preparing another world appeal for Union Against Communism.

A new Papal bill will be based, it was said, on information the Pope has received during the past year regarding various countries.

Too weak to deliver it himself, the Pope, it was understood, will give the message to the world through Cardinal Pacelli, his secretary of state, who will read it to the assembled Cardinals and Bishops, on Ash Wednesday.

The bill will order Roman Catholic priests throughout the world to renew their efforts to combine the "Godless civilization of atheism and communism," a Vatican spokesman said.

Greets Lindberghs

Rome, Feb. 4.—Air Marshal Italo Balbo, governor of Libya, today flew over from Tripoli to greet Colonel and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh, and it was understood to take the famous American couple to see Premier Benito Mussolini.

News of the arrival of Balbo, who led the mass flight to America in 1933, immediately frustrated the Lindberghs' determined efforts—with the aid of Il Duce—to keep away from crowds. More than a thousand came outside Balbo's hotel, the Excelsior, waiting to cheer the Americans when they arrived to call on the Air Marshal. Crowds formed everywhere the Lindberghs went.

ROME.—(INS)—All Italian school teachers of either sex must wear Fascist uniforms while teaching.

Male teachers who are officers in the Fascist Militia must wear the black uniform of the Party while women wear a white blouse, with fascist badge and a black skirt.

Children under eleven years of age must also wear uniforms at school. Boys wear black shirts and trousers and girls white blouses and black skirts.

or to become due for a period not exceeding ten years on any real estate or improvement, the operation of which shall be deemed to be beneficial to the interests of such political subdivision and to increase the wealth of such political subdivision.

Particularly significant is the word "exonerate" in the bill.

The Pennsylvania Constitution sets forth that under no condition shall the power to grant "remittance" of tax collections be delegated.

"Exonerate," it was believed, will neatly skirt the legal barrier of the term "remittance."

Rep. Wilson L. Yeakel, Bucks Republican, this week introduced four appropriation bills for institutions in his county. They were:

National Farm School, Doylestown, $50,000; Quakertown Hospital, $15,000; Grand View Hospital, Sellersville, $25,000; and Tabor Home for Children, Doylestown, $6,500.

Most Sensational Slab Star

By HURLEY

Unquestionably the most colorful figure of the coming baseball season will be Cleveland's 17-year-old pitching prodigy, Bob ("Young") Feller.

This astounding adolescent whose steaming shoots contoured the best hitters in baseball in the closing weeks of the 1936 campaign may have it in him to become the greatest hurler of all time.

Certainly, no other moundsman in history, not even Mathewson, Young or Johnson, ever duplicated Blazing Bob's feat of fanning 17 men in one game during his first big league season. Everything about this kid fairly oozes color. He's better than any hero out of a story-book—not even that fictitious phenom, Frank Merriwell, has anything on the flinging Feller.

The controversy over Feller's status with the Cleveland team, which grabbed him direct from the sandlots in violation of a big league law: almost busted up the big league convention.

Judge Landis lost a lot of prestige by his failure to declare Bob a free agent, but if he had done that the venerable Judge would probably have lost his job.

This terrific squabble only served to focus the spotlight on the youngster more intently. All eyes will be on him in 1937.
